2. DORMANT ASSETS

It happens that contacts with clients break off and the assets subsequently become dormant. Such assets can be permanently forgotten by the clients and their heirs. The following is recommended to avoid loss of contact or dormant assets:

- Change of address and name: Please notify us immediately of any change of residence, address or name.
- Special instructions: Please inform us about longer absences and about a possible redirection of correspondence to a third address or a withholding of correspondence as well as about the availability in urgent cases during this time.
- Granting of power of attorneys: It may be advisable to designate an authorised person whom JP can approach in the event of a break in contact.
- Orientation of trusted persons and testamentary disposition: Another way of avoiding lack of contact and news is to inform a trusted person about the relationship with JP. However, JP may only provide such a trusted person with information if they have been authorised to do so in writing. Furthermore, the assets concerned can be mentioned, for example, in a testamentary disposition.

JP is happy to answer any questions. Further information can also be found in the Swiss Bankers Association's brochure "Dormant Assets". The brochure is available on the internet at:

3. INFORMATION ABOUT THE FINANCIAL SERVICES OFFERED BY JP

3.1. Asset Management

3.1.1. Nature, characteristics and functioning of the financial service

In asset management, JP manages assets, which the client has deposited with a custodian bank, in the name of, for the account of and at the risk of the client. JP carries out transactions at its own free discretion and without consulting the client. In doing so, JP ensures that the transactions executed by it correspond to the financial circumstances and investment objectives of the client as well as the investment strategy agreed with the client and ensures that the portfolio structuring is suitable for the client.

3.1.2. Rights and duties

In asset management, the client has the right that the assets in his portfolio will be managed by JP. In doing so, JP selects the investments to be included in the portfolio with due care within the framework of the market offer to be considered. JP observes the principle of good faith and the principle of equal treatment when processing customer orders. JP works towards achieving the best possible result in terms of finance, time and quality when executing its clients' orders. In financial terms, JP takes into account not only the price of the financial instrument but also the costs associated with the execution of the order as well as the compensation of third parties in accordance with Article 26 paragraph 3 of the FinSA. JP ensures an appropriate distribution of risk as far as the investment strategy allows. It regularly monitors the assets it manages and ensures that the investments are in line with the investment strategy agreed in the investment profile and are suitable for the client.

JP informs the client regularly about the agreed and provided wealth management.

3.1.3. Risks

In asset management, the following risks basically arise, which lie in the risk sphere of the client and are therefore borne by the client:

- Risk of the selected investment strategy: Different risks may arise from the investment strategy selected and agreed by the client (see below). The client shall bear these risks in full. A presentation of the risks and a corresponding risk disclosure shall be made before the investment strategy is agreed.
- Substance preservation risk or the risk that the financial instruments in the portfolio lose value: This risk, which may vary depending on the financial instrument, is borne in full by the client. For the risks of the individual financial instruments, please refer to the brochure "Risks in Trading with Financial Instruments" published by the Swiss Bankers Association: https://www.swissbanking.ch/Resources/Persistent/6/1/3/c/613cf17d17e7628788b2135114e5d399e822778d/SBA Risks Involved in Trading Financial Instruments 2019 EN.pdf
- Information risk on the part of JP or the risk that JP has not sufficient information to be able to make a well-founded investment decision: When managing the assets, JP takes into account the client's financial circumstances and investment objectives (suitability test). If the client provides JP with insufficient or inaccurate information about his financial circumstances and/or investment objectives, there is a risk that JP will not be able to make investment decisions that are suitable for the client.
- Risk as a qualified investor in collective investment schemes: Clients who make use of asset management services within the framework of a long-term asset management relationship are deemed to be qualified investors within the meaning of the Collective Investment Schemes Act. Qualified investors have access to forms of collective investment schemes that are exclusively open to them. This status enables a broader range of financial instruments to be taken into account in the design of the portfolio. Collective investment schemes for qualified investors may be exempt from regulatory requirements. Such financial instruments are therefore not or only partially subject to Swiss regulations. This may give rise to risks, particularly with regard to liquidity, investment strategy or transparency. Detailed information on the risk profile of a particular collective investment scheme can be found in the constituent documents of the financial instrument and, where applicable, in the basic information sheet and the prospectus.

In addition, asset management gives rise to risks which lie within the sphere of risk of JP and for which JP is liable vis-à-vis the client. JP has taken appropriate measures to counter these risks, in particular by observing the principle of good faith and the principle of equal treatment when processing client orders. Furthermore, JP ensures the best possible execution of client orders.

3.1.4. Considered market offer

The market offering considered in the selection of financial instruments only covers third-party financial instruments. The following financial instruments are available to the client within the scope of asset management:

- Shares listed as e.g., in the Stoxx Europe 600, S&P 500, Nikkei 225 and SMI;
- Units in collective investment schemes;
- Structured products issued as e.g., by Vontobel, Julius Baer, UBS, Goldman Sachs, Natixis and BNP Paribas;
- Bonds;
- Currencies

3.2. Family Office Services

3.2.1. Nature, characteristics and operation of the financial service

The main function is the strategic management of family assets with comprehensive asset allocation, i.e., in particular asset planning, asset consolidation, asset structuring, performance monitoring etc. This does not include regulatory services such as asset management or investment advice. Wealth structuring is carried out through a selection of efficient means and structures for the preservation, increase and fulfilment of long-term and short-term family and business goals. For the asset allocation, an asset mix and a liquidity strategy are defined through macro analyses and various investment themes. Risk management is based on a holistic strategy that includes structural as well as new challenges. For tax, legal, M&A and corporate finance advice, we refer you to experts in our network.

3.2.2. Rights and duties

The client is entitled to careful and sound advice as well as regular information about the agreed services provided by JP. JP must at all times inform the client about the risks and challenges of the assets in the mandate.

3.2.3. Risks

The assessment of opportunities and risks is worked out together with the client for his/her specific situation.

3.3. Index Sponsor

3.3.1. Nature, characteristics and operation of the financial service

As index sponsor of actively managed certificates ("tracker certificates"), JP manages the indices underlying the tracker certificates on a discretionary basis and is compensated for this activity by the issuer. The indices represent purely hypothetical portfolios.

3.3.2. Rights and duties

JP is responsible for the composition and compilation of the indices. The client or issuer is entitled vis-à-vis JP to have JP compile and create the indices in accordance with predefined index rules or strategy (as well as their basic guidelines and parameters). The client or issuer is not obliged to buy and/or hold any components of the index and there is no actual portfolio of assets to which any person is entitled or in which any person holds a participation.

3.3.3. Risks

The assessment of opportunities and risks in connection with the service as index sponsor will be worked out together with the client or issuer for his specific situation. The issuer or the client bears the issuer risk.

4. CONFLICTS OF INTEREST

4.1. In general

Conflicts of interest can arise when JP:

- can achieve a financial advantage for himself or avoid a financial loss at the expense of clients in breach of good faith;
- has an interest in the outcome of a financial service provided to clients that is contrary to that of the clients;
- has a financial or other incentive in the provision of financial services to place the interests of certain clients above the interests of other clients; or
- accepts an inducement in the form of financial or non-financial benefits or services from a third party in breach of good faith in relation to a financial service provided to the client.

Conflicts of interest may arise in connection with asset management. They are mainly caused by the coincidence of:

- several customer orders;
- customer orders with JP's own business or other own interests or those of companies affiliated with JP;
- customer orders with transactions of JP employees.

4.2. Dealing with possible conflicts of interest

JP has issued internal directives and taken organisational precautions in order to recognise conflicts of interest and prevent them from having a detrimental effect on the client:

- JP does not execute any employee transactions and does not engage in proprietary trading.
- JP has established an internal control function that continuously monitors JP's investment transactions and compliance with the rules of market conduct. The control function reports findings directly to the Board of Directors. Through effective control and sanction measures, JP can thus avoid conflicts of interest.
- When executing orders, JP observes the priority principle, i.e., all orders are entered immediately in the chronological order in which they are received.
- JP creates areas of confidentiality within the organisation.
- JP obliges its employees to disclose mandates that may lead to a conflict of interest.
- JP designs its remuneration policy in such a way that there are no incentives for frowned-upon behaviour.
- JP regularly trains its employees and ensures that they have the necessary expertise.
- JP consults the control function in the event of potentially conflicting interests and has these approved by it.

4.3. Compensation by and to third parties in particular

Within the scope of providing financial services, JP does not accept any compensation from third parties. Should retrocessions or similar remunerations nevertheless be paid from an investment, the client will be informed immediately and requested to state within the shortest possible time whether he/she would like to have the corresponding value transferred directly or whether it should be allocated to the assets under management.

In case that intermediaries, who introduce clients to JP, will receive a compensation, this will also be disclosed to the client.

4.4. Further information

For a discussion on possible conflicts of interest, JP is pleased to be at your disposal.
